

May's Phone Bridge with Ron

Last month, IACP President Ron Ousky initiated a monthly phone bridges series designed to give us another opportunity to connect, share ideas and talk about the things that matter to our members. This month, Ron will host a phone bridge on Friday, May 16 at Noon Central Time. The suggested topic is: How do we talk about Collaborative Practice – to our clients, to their spouses, to the public? What's working for you?

The conversation can meander from the suggested topic to whatever questions and ideas might emerge from the call-in participants. We invite you to join us! Last month's call was a lot of fun and participants reported that they found the dialogue to be useful, informative and engaging.

Mark your calendars for this month's call on Friday, May 16 at Noon Central Time. Please don't forget to adjust for your own time zone. To join the call, simply dial 1 (712) 432-1620, access code 141330#.

We hope you'll be able to make it and look forward to hearing your thoughts!
