

CLIENT COLLABORATION
FINANCIAL INTERESTS AGENDA

How Do We Create a Durable Financial Settlement that Provides:

Each person with a residence that can accommodate the children.

Each person autonomy and the ability to use their resources as they see fit.

Each person resources such that the children, in each residence, have similar opportunities that they would have had if Dad and Mom stayed in a one-family home.

Each the ability to say they were fair to the other person and the other person to say they were treated fairly.

Dad acknowledgement that the money he inherited from his father is in his column.

Each enough resources that they are not fearful of their financial future and well-being.

Eric enough money to purchase a residence.

Mom the ability to keep the family residence as long as son is living at home.

Both parties financially contributing to their separate households.

Both the ability to keep the house and the cabin for the children.
